

WOODEN LEG MAY BELONG TO VOORHEES.

His Mother Thinks It Is the Artificial Limb of Her Missing Son.

Was Found in a Lot Near the Scene of a Burglary a Fort-night Ago.

POLICE ARE GREATLY PUZZLED.

Authorities Tried It on Every One-Legged Suspect in Hudson County Without Determining Its Ownership.

On the morning of April 30 a wooden leg was found in a lot near the Glendale woods at Jersey City. The night previous a burglary had been committed, and since that time the police have been looking for a burglar who a leg. At first it was suggested that the leg be sent to the Morgue, but the Coroner declined there was nothing about his office that required him to hold inquiries on wooden legs, glass eyes or artificial teeth. The property clerk of the city didn't see why it should be turned over to him, and the policeman who discovered the leg claimed that he had no use for it.

In the meantime the leg was in the custody of Sergeant Snow, waiting for somebody to be captured by the police without a leg, so that it could be tried on the prisoner. Since its discovery nearly every person in Jersey minus one of his lower extremities has been questioned about his whereabouts on the evening of the burglary. The dealers in wooden legs have all been polled, and the detectives have taken turns carrying the leg from one dealer to another, with the hope that one of them might be able to get a clue that would lead to the identification of the leg; if not the burglar.

Every day the leg has answered roll call at the station houses, and numbers of persons have called in to say "How d'ye do" to it, with the hope of being able to recognize it. Several of the Chancellors on the Jersey City force have tried to borrow it for a night stick. One or two persons try a peg owing to the voracity of the trolley lines have tried it on with the hope that it would fit and might be purchased at half price.

The servants about the house of Mrs. John Andrews, where the burglary was committed, failed to remember any one with a wooden leg, except a rocking-horse belonging to one of the neighbors. Upon examination it was found that the horse was in possession of all his legs, but was minus a rocker, and that clew was abandoned.

During all the time of the investigation that the leg was being carried about Jersey and tried on tramps, it has never complained. It has acted as though it had been born in a station house and brought up with policemen all its life. At times it was hard to tell some of the policemen for the leg, but no objection on that score.

After the leg had answered roll call yesterday morning and was waiting to be tried on some one-legged burglar suspect, it was identified. Mrs. John Voorhees, of No. 84 Norfolk street, called at the station house and asked to be shown the leg. As soon as she laid eyes upon it she said: "That's John's leg!"

Mrs. Voorhees said that twelve years ago her son left home and was gone for ten years. When he returned one of his legs was injured and it had to be amputated. Two weeks ago he left home and has not been seen since. Mrs. Voorhees is certain that her son did not commit the burglary, as he was too weak to do so, and was not, according to her story, in his right mind when he left home. The police are now searching for Voorhees.

POLITICS DISRUPT A MISSION.

President and Treasurer to Resign and Politics to Be Barred.

Sea Isle City, N. J., May 12.—There is trouble in the Bridgeton Church Gospel Mission. Superintendent Edward White was opposed to politics being brought into the mission during gospel meetings, and S. T. Strange and G. W. Oliver took exception. They retaliated with resolutions which would practically have forced Superintendent White out of the church, had they passed.

At a festival was held for the benefit of Superintendent White, he is said to have not received the money, and spoke bitterly against Treasurer Oliver and President Strange. The Superintendent will retain his position, and politics will not be heard in the mission; but the President and Treasurer will resign.

DONLON MAKES ANOTHER PLEA

Must Stand Trial for Manslaughter, as Well as Murder.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 12.—Thomas Donlon, the Philadelphia moulder, who, it is claimed, pushed Edward Masterson, the barber at the Grand Depot, was brought before Chief Justice Beasley this morning to enter a second plea.

He pleaded not guilty, and the Chief Justice said he would try the case some day in July, and would arrange the date by correspondence with counsel. Donlon was indicted on two counts, one for murder and the other for manslaughter.

HIS ARM TORN OFF.

Patrick J. Dermody Terribly Injured While Fixing a Machine.

Elizabeth, N. J., May 12.—Patrick J. Dermody, proprietor of a dyeing and cleaning establishment, at No. 37 Broad street, had his arm torn off while fixing his machinery to-day.

His shirt sleeve caught in a cog wheel, and his arm was pulled from his shoulder. Dr. E. R. Burt, who was called, amputated his arm and sent him to a hospital. While in a very serious condition, his recovery is not improbable.

Jersey Foresters at Long Branch.

Long Branch, N. J., May 12.—The annual convention of the Grand Order of New Jersey, of the Order of Foresters of America, was held in the Town Hall at this place to-day. Three sessions were held. About one hundred delegates were present. Routine business occupied the attention of the delegates at the morning session. At the afternoon session the following grand officers were elected: Grand Chief Ranger, James J. Carlin; grand treasurer, W. S. Weid; grand corresponding secretary, W. J. Denton; grand secretary, John Scott; grand chaplain, George N. P. Johnson; grand Chief Ranger, Dr. J. W. Bennett, of this place.

At the close of this evening's session, the conventional hall, in honor of the grand officers, was given. The next convention will be held at Orange.

TWINS AGAIN LOCKED UP.

This Time Vreeland's Precious Pair Rob a Candy Store and Their Father Refuses to Intercede.

Passaic, N. J., May 12.—The Vreeland twins, George and Dave, eight years old, the heroes of many escapades, are in limbo, and their father, tired and discouraged of his efforts to make them behave, has declined to do anything more, and says the law may take its course with the children.

The boys were put to bed by their mother last night about 9 o'clock. They had been on their good behavior since they were arrested for holding up two boys and robbing them of their bicycles. Therefore, Mrs. Vreeland had begun to feel secure.

At 11 o'clock the last of the Vreeland twins were led to bed. At that hour the twins were in bed and supposedly fast asleep. At midnight the boys were found in the confectionery store of Mrs. Outwain, at No. 100 Passaic street. They had secured some money, candy and bottled soda. They were locked up. This morning their father refused to further intercede for them and they were sent to the County Jail. They will probably be sent to the reformatory at Jamesburg.

ASK UNDERGROUND ROAD.

Montclair Citizens Are Opposed to Poles and Wires and Incline to Mr. Chase's Plan.

Montclair, N. J., May 12.—The Town Council last night unexpectedly rescinded a proposition from Ira C. Chase, representing a company of capitalists, who, he said, would ask the Council in a few days for a franchise to operate a street railway with an underground system. He said that if granted a franchise he would guarantee its success.

A majority of the Council is in favor of the underground plan and will, in all probability, lean toward Mr. Chase and his enterprise rather than a corporation with poles and wires, as the citizens are bitterly opposed to the streets being disfigured.

The members of the Council then selected officers for the coming year. The following: Attorney, Alfred S. Badgley; Treasurer, Silas Stuart; Surveyor, James Owen; Chief of Police, James B. Baker; Recorder, William Whitney Ames. The latter was chosen to succeed Charles B. Morris, and Democrat.

Appropriations for the year were made amounting to $122,000. Of this $65,000 was for school, $48,000 for the poor, and interest on bonded indebtedness. The appropriations do not include the $15,000 voted for hard road construction.

RAILROAD WANTS THE LAND.

Pennsylvania Trying to Learn How They Lost the Tract.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 12.—The attention of Chief Justice Beasley and a jury was taken up in court this morning with the appeal of the Pennsylvania Railroad from the award of Commissioners who gave the land to the Erie and Delaware Bay Railroad. The railroad wanted for its tracks and for damages to adjoining property.

The interesting part of the trial was the disparity between the actual value of the land condemned as determined by experts, and the amount fixed by the Commissioners. J. Bayard Kirkpatrick told how the Gas Light Company sold a piece of dock property, which it owned to Loyd T. Fox for $100 a front foot on the canal. The peculiar part of this sale was that he and Mr. Fox considered the price too little, as they considered the price too little, and they considered the price too little, and they considered the price too little.

After the trial was over, the jury returned a verdict for the railroad. The jury found that the land was worth $100 a front foot, and that the railroad was entitled to $100 a front foot. The jury also found that the railroad was entitled to $100 a front foot, and that the railroad was entitled to $100 a front foot.

POLICE AFTER SALVATIONISTS.

The Army Leads a Bloomfield Officer a Merry Chase.

Bloomfield, N. J., May 12.—An incident in which the Salvation Army and a policeman played prominent parts occurred here last night.

Chief of Police Powers has for some time received complaints from merchants against the Salvationists blocking the sidewalks while holding their outdoor meetings. The leaders of the Army were given notice yesterday that they must no longer block crossings.

In this breach of the law Police Officer Foster was delegated to watch the Salvationists. The officer had a lively time keeping the Salvationists off the sidewalks, and many citizens who saw Police Officer Foster marching around with the Army came to his aid. The officer was not hurt, but the Army wanted its way for nearly half an hour and then went to the barracks to the great relief of the officer, who declared he was not built for that kind of parading.

TRAMP HOLDS UP WOMEN.

Demands Money at Their Doors, but is Finally Jailed.

Nutley, N. J., May 12.—A tramp made things hot for the women in his place last night, threatening the women whenever they failed to give him the money he demanded.

He finally visited the rectory of the Episcopal Church and demanded money of the Rev. John Appleton, declaring that he wanted it "bad" and must have it. Special Officer Healey, who was searching for him, arrived at this time and took him into custody. He was taken to the house of Austin Bonnell, and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

DOG DITCHES A CARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Simms Thrown Out. They Will Sue for Damages.

Montclair, N. J., May 12.—E. P. Simms and wife while driving through Gates avenue last night were thrown from their carriage. A large mastiff belonging to a neighbor sprang out at the horse causing it to shy and upsetting the vehicle into a ditch.

The conveyance was damaged, and Mr. Simms has begun suit to recover for his losses. The other leg was horribly lacerated.

Young Bowe's Injuries Fatal.

Orange, N. J., May 12.—George Bowe, ten years old, who was run over by a train at South Orange, on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, yesterday afternoon, died this morning on a cot in the Memorial Hospital. Bowe was the son of Michael Bowe, of South Orange. He fell between the cars of a freight train, which he had boarded to speak to the conductor. One of his legs was cut off below the knee, and was picked up ten feet from the body. The other leg was horribly mangled and the lad's head was gashed in several places.

Miss Skidmore Dies of Typhoid Fever.

Miss Laura Skidmore, daughter of Conductor George E. Skidmore, of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, died at her parents' home on New York street, Hoboken, last night of typhoid fever, after an illness of two weeks. She was nineteen years of age.

HIS LAST THOUGHT WAS OF THE FIRE.

Death of Ex-Chief Janes, Who Was Injured at a Staten Island Blaze.

Boys, Put Out the Fire; Don't Bother With Me," He Said and Lost Consciousness.

HURT BY A FALLING CHIMNEY.

Was Climbing a Ladder When the Bricks Fell on Him—The Firemen Will Conduct His Funeral Tomorrow.

New Brighton, S. I., May 12.—William H. Janes, ex-chief of the North Shore Fire Department of Staten Island, died in the S. R. Smith infirmary at this place just before the noon hour to-day from injuries sustained at a fire on Monday.

The ex-Chief was exceedingly popular among the firemen, and it was said in the truck house to-day that during the sixteen years he had been in active service he had only missed five fires. Chief Janes left his place of business when the alarm sounded on Monday and ran with his company, the "Wyandottos," to a fire on John street, Elm Park, which was about two miles distant. He was in the act of climbing a high ladder when the brick chimney tumbled over, striking him on the head and felling him to the ground. There was much excitement, as all thought he was killed.

Willie Janes soon assisted the Chief away from the burning building, and he opened his eyes and said: "Boys, put out the fire; don't bother with me."

These are the last words he spoke intelligently. He was hurried to the infirmary, where everything human skill could do to save him was done, but he died this morning without regaining consciousness. The various companies will drape their houses for thirty days. The funeral will be held from the Church of the Ascension, West Brighton, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and be in charge of the firemen. The dead man was thirty-seven years of age, and leaves a widow and two children.

He was engaged in the oil business, and was one of the most respected merchants on the North Shore of Staten Island.

IN A SPIRIT OF ROMANCE.

Miss Frances Independence Spencer Became Mrs. W. C. Force Without Her Parents' Knowledge.

Plainfield, N. J., May 12.—The society people of this place were astonished to learn to-day of the marriage, on December 3 last, of Miss Frances Independence Spencer, the only daughter of Colonel N. S. Spencer, of this city, to William Curtis Force.

The bride let her parents into the secret last Saturday. There was no scene and no parental objection. The young couple, through a spirit of romance, decided to be married quietly and the ceremony was performed New Year's eve by the Rev. Dr. Glazebrook, rector of St. John's Church, Elizabeth.

Both bride and groom are well known in local society.

THE CHINAMAN SLEPT ON.

Meanwhile Two Boys Stole His Cash Drawer and Its Contents.

Young Lee, proprietor of a Chinese laundry at No. 223 Erie street, Jersey City, fell asleep over his cash drawer late Monday night. Thomas Murphy and Michael Egan, two precocious youths of seventeen years, entered the laundry and stole the cash drawer and its contents without disturbing the sleeping Chinaman. They were seen running away, chased by a policeman and locked up.

Police Justice Potts yesterday held them for the Grand Jury.

STRUCK BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Wagon Demolished and Its Occupants Thrown Out and Injured.

Long Branch, N. J., May 12.—Last night Hugh Fogarty, son of P. Fogarty, of New York City, and Miss Bessie, and Mrs. T. Smith, of this place, narrowly escaped being seriously injured by a trolley car. Mr. Fogarty, in company with the Smiths, were driving on South Bath avenue, when they were struck by the trolley crossing, through the carelessness of the coachman, the trolley car struck the rear of the wagon, and the occupants were thrown, slightly injuring them, and badly wrecking the vehicle.

THOUGHT HE WAS A BURGLAR.

Olsen Was Trying to Enter His Home by the Fire Escape and Was Arrested.

When Charles Olsen, of No. 560 First street, Hoboken, has occasion hereafter to enter his home at an early hour in the morning he will not climb up the fire escape.

Policeman Schneider, of the First Precinct, discovered Olsen, shoes in hand, climbing up the fire escape, and thinking him a burglar, he followed him with his revolver. Olsen quickly descended the ladder, and was locked up. When arraigned before Recorder McDonough, he explained the situation, and was allowed to go.

Woman Run Over by a Wagon.

Mrs. Alice Johnson, fifty years old, of No. 139 Seventeenth street, Jersey City, was yesterday run over by a wagon driven by Henry Knust, of Church street, at the Erie Railroad crossing on Grove street. She was seriously injured, and was taken to St. Francis Hospital. Knust was arrested.

Seafood Falls with Two Men.

Dover, N. J., May 12.—Two men, on which William Searing and Oscar Ford were standing while putting a slate roof on the residence of Mr. George Bowly broke late this afternoon and threw the men to the ground, fifty feet below. The men were badly hurt, and the boat was destroyed. Sheephead will soon be biting on the Cape May County marshes. Many snipe and plovers are feeding.

Child's Fatal Fall from a Window.

Four-year-old Annie Kelly fell from the second-story window of her home, No. 226 Sixth street, Jersey City, yesterday, and fractured her skull. The child was playing near the window, and leaning out, lost her balance and fell. She was fatally injured.

"RAGS" DIED IN AN ELEMENT HE LOATHED.

He Was a Jersey Dog and His Thirst for Beer Led to Suicide.

Couldn't Understand the Blue Laws and Waited in Vain for a Sunday Drink.

LEAPED FOR JOY AT A "GROWLER."

Citizen Who Was Passing With a Can Drove Him and the Disappointed Canine Deliberately Drowned Himself.

"Rags" is dead. He committed suicide because he was denied his Sunday beer. He, displaced water, and could be classed as a toper. "Rags" was a dog, owned by R. F. Sheehan, a saloon keeper on Central avenue, Jersey City Heights. For twenty-five years "Rags" had enjoyed life in the old Fourth District.

Every one knew the dog, and with the children especially he was a great favorite. On Sunday Sheehan's saloon was tightly closed, "Rags's" master being among the many saloon keepers who thought it best to obey the orders issued by Chief Murphy regarding Sunday closing. Such a state of affairs was a surprise to "Rags," who, every morning for twenty-five years, had been given a drink of beer.

When "Rags" arose Sunday morning he trotted to the saloon, only to find it closed. For a time the dog scratched at the doors, hoping to obtain admittance, and looked sad when it remained closed. Finally he sat down and howled. When Sheehan came along to put out the lights he found over night in the saloon "Rags" leaped for joy. But he was doomed to disappointment.

His master hurriedly extinguished the lights, then closed the saloon and started for home. "Rags" refused to follow him, sitting in front of the saloon, resuming his howls. Several men who knew the dog came along and tried to coax him away. He refused to budge and continued his howls. At last John Berger came along. John had a can in his hand. "Rags," thinking that Berger was on his way to get beer, followed him. Berger walked past the reservoir. In an unused portion there is a large pond, very deep, formed by the overflow of water.

"You can't have any beer to-day, old fellow," said Berger, "but I will give you a bath in the pond." "Rags" gazed sorrowfully at Berger, then dashed into the water.

He never made an effort to swim, but, still gazing sorrowfully at Berger, sank out of sight. Several men made an effort to rescue the disconsolate brute, but were unsuccessful. The dog's body was recovered yesterday.

"Rags" will be stuffed and placed behind the bar in the saloon where he lived so many years. "Rags" was a white and shaggy, his eyes were blue, and his untimely end is regretted by his many friends.

CONKLIN'S HEIRS CONTEST

Status of an Adopted Child and His Second Wife Brought Out in Court.

New Brighton, S. I., May 12.—The taking of the testimony in the contest over the will of the late Captain Michael Conklin, who represented Richmond County in the Assembly in 1893 and 1894, was begun this afternoon before Surrogate S. D. Stephens, at this place.

The contest was originally begun by Miss Mary E. Conklin, of Brooklyn, who claims to be a daughter of the deceased. She was a member of his household for twenty-five years and was always treated as a daughter. She was married to a man who was left or was sent away from Captain Conklin's home, and declared to be only an adopted child.

She began the contest Captain Conklin's brothers and sisters have joined in the effort to prevent the admission to probate of the will. Her estate, estimated at about $30,000, to his second wife, Fannie Donovan-Conklin, M. D., of this place. The contest was begun by Dr. Fannie Donovan, attended professionally by the first Mrs. Conklin.

Only the lawyers and a competent witness to the will were present at the hearing to-day. Lawyer Cullman, who drew the will, is the attorney for the testator, and Henry T. Metcalfe, the two subscribing witnesses, were examined. It was brought out that the testator, Michael Conklin, was a man of high standing in the community, and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of New York, on December 3, 1894, when only Captain Conklin and the subscribing witnesses were present.

It was also stated that the testator had been a member of the First Presbyterian Church of New York, on December 3, 1894, when only Captain Conklin and the subscribing witnesses were present. It was also stated that the testator had been a member of the First Presbyterian Church of New York, on December 3, 1894, when only Captain Conklin and the subscribing witnesses were present.

YOUNG GIRLS.

Their Conduct and Health Often Mystifies Their Mothers.

Young girls often feel and consequently act, very strangely.

They shed tears without apparent cause, are restless, nervous, and at times almost hysterical.

They seem absorbed, and heedless of things going on around them. Sometimes they complain of pain in lower parts of body, flushes of heat in head, cold feet, etc.

Young girls are not free from incipient uterine troubles.

Parents should see to it that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is promptly taken; and all druggists have it. The girl will speedily be "herself again," and a probable danger be averted. Any information on this subject, or regarding all female ailments, will be cheerfully given free by Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Write her.
